Below is a table depicting pay quartiles by gender shows Eastbourne Borough Council 's workforce divided into four equal-sized groups based on hourly pay rates, with Band A including the lowest-paid 25% of employees (the lower quartile) and Band D covering the highest-paid 25% (the upper quartile).

In order for there to be no gender pay gap, there would need to be an equal ratio of men to women in each band.

Pay quartiles by gender

Band	Males	Females	Description
A	57.34%	42.66%	Includes all employees whose standard hourly rate places them at or below the lower quartile
B	46.08%	54.38%	Includes all employees whose standard hourly rate places them above the lower quartile but at or below the median
C	39.91%	62.84%	Includes all employees whose standard hourly rate places them above the median but at or below the upper quartile
D	47.25%	52.75%	Includes all employees whose standard hourly rate places them above the upper quartile

The figures set out above have been calculated using the standard methodologies used in the Equality Act 2010 (Gender Pay Gap Information) Regulations 2017.

What are the underlying causes of Eastbourne Borough Council's gender pay gap?

Under the law, men and women must receive equal pay for:

- the same or broadly similar work;
- work rated as equivalent under a job evaluation scheme; or
- work of equal value.

This represents a reduction of the mean gender pay gap so that we have brought this even closer to there being no gap at all.

Eastbourne Borough Council is committed to the principle of equal opportunities and equal treatment for all employees, regardless of sex, race, religion or belief, age, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy/maternity, sexual orientation, gender reassignment or disability. It has a clear policy of paying employees equally for the same or equivalent work, regardless of their sex (or any other characteristic set out above). As such it evaluates job roles and pay grades as necessary to ensure a fair structure.

We already monitor gender in our recruitment process and amongst our employees to understand:

- the proportions of men and women applying for jobs and being recruited;
- the proportions of men and women applying for and obtaining promotions;
- the proportions of men and women leaving the organisation and their reasons for leaving;
- the numbers of men and women in each role and pay band;
- take-up of flexible working arrangements by gender and level within the organisation;
- the proportion of men and women who return to their original job after a period of maternity or other parental leave; and
- the proportion of men and women still in post a year on from a return to work after a period of maternity or other parental leave.
